Haeundae Beach in Busan is about 1.8km long, 50m wide, and the average water depth is only about 1m.

In addition, the waves are calm, the wide white sandy beach and the beautiful coastline are also the charms of Haeundae Beach. Haeundae Beach is also famous for its sophisticated and urban atmosphere, with high-rise buildings and luxury hotels rising along the coastline.

The hottest tourist destination in Busan these days is definitely Haeundae Blue Line Park. Haeundae Blue Line Park is an eco-friendly redevelopment of the 4.8km old Donghae Nambu Line railway facility, and operates the Haeundae Beach Train and Sky Capsule along the beautiful coastal scenery.

When the train departs with the announcement, the scenes that change moment by moment are fully captured in both eyes thanks to the slow speed of 15 km per hour.

The section between Dalmaji Tunnel and Cheongsapo, where you can feel as if you are running on the sea, and the section between Daritdol Observatory and Gudeokpo, where you can see the transparent sea, are the most famous.
